

February Job Postings 2020-2021 Comparison

Published March 2021

Job Demand during COVID-19

The COVID-19 pandemic caused unprecedented changes in the job market. Unemployment rates spiked to record highs in the spring and summer of 2020 as businesses shut down to prevent the spread of the virus. Although unemployment rates have decreased since the start of the pandemic, many Missourians remain unemployed and there continue to be shifts in job postings. As workforce needs change across the state, it is important to know which occupations and industries are in demand to help displaced workers find new career paths.

In February 2021, there were 48,681 online job postings, compared to 55,987 in February 2020, representing a 13 percent decrease. Job postings have decreased while the number of unemployed Missourians has increased. In February 2021, there were 2.6 unemployed Missourians for every job posting. In February 2020, there were only 2.0 unemployed Missourians for every posting.
